Flyer Lufbery Dies in Air Duel

Yankee Aviator, Who
Downed 18 German
Planes, Killed

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE—A French aviator shot down an enemy plane back of the Lunerville sector. Two men from this plane were captured by Americans. The German came from somewhere in the rear. It is reported, although not confirmed, that this is the machine which brought down Maj. Lufbery.

(By the Associated Press)
WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE—Maj. Raoul Lufbery of the American flying corps has been killed in an aerial battle. He will be buried with full military honors in which both American and French troops will participate. Lufbery's home was in Wallingford, Conn. The German machine which brought Lufbery down, which was armed with two machine guns, with an operator for each piece, apparently escaped. Lufbery's only wound, aside from those received when he crashed to earth, was a bullet hole through the thumb. Apparently the same bullet punctured one of the gasoline tanks of his machine. The German machine was under heavy anti-aircraft fire several times both before and after the air fight, and one explosion of a shell upset the enemy's plane, but it managed to straighten out.

Gervais Raoul Lufbery, the "Ace" of the American escadrille, has looked into about as many odd corners of the globe as any other living man of his age. Since his early days Lufbery's career has been continuously one of excitement and adventure and his story

UNITED SHOE NOT ILLEGAL COMBINATION

Supreme Court So
Decides

Much Contested "Tying Leases" Approved
by Court

WASHINGTON.—The United Shoe Machinery Co. has won its case in the Supreme Court after it had been lost in the lower courts, was ordered dismissed. The decision applies to the company and all its subsidiaries. The court divided four to three, with Justices McReynolds and Brandeis not participating because the former attorney-general was concerned in the case, and the latter, as a private lawyer, was concerned in the litigation. Pres. E. P. Brown of the United Shoe Corp. in his annual report issued Saturday said in regard to the suit:—

"With reference to the suit brought by the Government in the Federal Court in Massachusetts in 1911 seeking the dissolution of the company under the Sherman act it will be recalled that on March 18, 1915, after

Red Cross Drive Opens With Dash

Greater Boston Has
$60,000 Donated
As Starter

The Red Cross drive is progressing by leaps and bounds.

Early returns have already rolled up hundreds of thousands to propagate the work of the Cross of Red.

One man, Dudley L. Pickman of 52 State st., subscribed personally 10 $1000 Liberty Bonds. And Mr. Pickman contributed his subscription as thousands of people throughout the land have done today. Without ostentation or ceremony he calmly walked in, and without ceremony laid his roll on the table.

"My gift to the boys," said Mr. Pickman, and walked quickly away leaving Red Cross officials gasping. Already many towns have telegraphed headquarters of the over-subscription of their quota.

Peabody, the first town over, reported at 9 a. m. a total of $25,207, $2297 over and above her quota.

Sherborn has subscribed 225 p. c. over her quota.

Portland, Me., voluntarily raised her's from $160,000 to $208,000, the chairman reporting that the city will exceed even her raised quota by 50 p. c.

Children from the Rockland public schools who purchased $700 worth of Liberty Bonds have voted to contribute the entire amount to the Red Cross.

Before the drive opened eight departments of the United Shoe Machinery Co. had subscribed their full quota.

Tonight will be Red Cross night at the Pops. At the request of Maj. Henry Higginson, the Red Cross proceeds will be turned over to the funds of the second drive.

Ruth, who has been ill for some time, suffering from oedema of the larynx, had just left his doctor's office and was on his way to his apartment at 464 Huntington ave. when he collapsed. He was removed to the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary.

Ruth has been playing in the game regularly of late on account of his terrific batting. The Babe is the leading hitter of the American League at the present time.

Prague, Austria,
In State of Siege;
Cheers for Wilson

LONDON.—A message from Zurich says that a state of siege has been declared in Prague following fighting and street demonstrations against Germany. There were processions of Czechs and Jugos Slavs, the marchers shouting "Long live Wilson." "Long live Lloyd George." "Long live Clemenceau." The police and military garrison has been reinforced.

"Onward Christian Soldiers"

Many tunes, stirring many memories and waking many hearts to sentiments personal and reminiscent, were played as the Red Cross marched by on Saturday afternoon. None more sonorous, none more mighty in its reach for the human heart, than the rich and searching strains of "Onward Christian Soldiers."

We have heard this grand old hymn criticised, in the soft days when men had time for petty things, time for analyzing specks and splitting hairs. We have heard it complained by very nice persons that the hymn did not speak the voice of Christianity, that it breathed a violence alien to the passion of forgiveness, that it bespoke blows where the turning of cheeks was the world-lesson of the Master.

Today this old, ringing hymn speaks with the thunder of mankind's response to the commands of the Almighty. It is not for us to read and assert the mind of God. It is enough that, seeing our duty clearly, we go forth in confidence and do the work at hand. Yet we must all feel that to make a life of honor and the thoughts of peace entertainable, there must be the soul of the soldier in all of us.

"Onward Christian Soldiers" today thunders in the ears of all Americans. And onward may we go, clean in heart, clear in mind, and strong of arm, that the peace of the world may be built of enduring timber!

HUN AIRMEN IN FORCE IN LONDON RAID

Drop Bombs From Great Height

Four Invading Machines
Fall Before English
Defenses

LONDON.—Thirty-seven persons were killed and 133 injured in the London area during last night's air raid.

LONDON.—The latest aerial attack of the Germans on London and its environs probably was the most ambitious ever undertaken. Never before was there such a continued volley of firing from the British anti-aircraft batteries.

Thousands of persons had their first experience in a raid. They were excursions from many points of England, Scotland and Wales here during the Whitelutide holidays, which run from Saturday until Tuesday.

On the other hand, thousands of Londoners had gone to the countryside and seashore resorts for brief vacations. They hurried back to London to learn the fate of their homes and relatives.

Except for a few brief pauses, the gunners blazed away with terrific concentration of fire. The raiding goths flew at a great height, the majority of them keeping well up to 12,000 feet in a very clear sky. The raid was the first the Germans have made on London since March 7. Four of the invaders fell before the defenses.

The number of enemy airplanes is not known, but they seem to have been

ARTILLERY FIRING OF GERMANS INCREASES CONSIDERABLY ON ALBERT-BUEQUOY SECTOR

PARIS.—Latest War Office report says the French, near Rheims, have penetrated as far as the third line enemy trenches, working much destruction, and returning with prisoners and material.

LONDON.—The British captured prisoners and carried out a successful raid in the Albert sector, according to a statement issued by the War Office today. A raid by the enemy north of Hinges was repulsed with heavy loss.

Hostile artillery firing increased considerably during the night on the Albert-Buequoy sector.

From Ypres to Rheims the Allied armies await confidently the resumption by the Germans of the offensive they began two months ago. Good weather prevails along the fronts in Flanders and Picardy, but the enemy has yet shown no disposition to take advantage of it.

Lack of fighting spirit in the crack German division, it is reported, is holding back a renewal of the heavy battles. Most of the first class units were battered severely in the fighting in the past two months and require more rest before they can again take up active operations, although the losses have been made up from reserve stations.

Indications are that the Germans may extend the fighting front further south and east along the Aisne into the Champagne. It is thought they may strike south of Laon in an effort to gain the attention of Gen. Foch and his reserve army, while their real effort is made further north in an attempt to separate the British and French armies.

Reports Significant

Significance may attach to the reports of yesterday reported the British carrying of heavy artillery fire in the sector between Arras and Albert, which comprises the northerly continuation of the Somme battlefield.

London today thus announces a considerable increase in the German artillery activity between Albert and Buequoy, which is a 10-mile front covering about half the distance between Albert and Arras.

Similarly, the German official statement of yesterday reported the British guns busy along the entire Albert-Arras front, where the German batteries were subjected to a violent fire.

It is along this line that many of the military observers are qualifiedly predicting that the German blow in the offensive now impending will be struck.

What is known as the Arras salient, which projects from the British lines between the German salients of the Somme and the Lys, is standing in the way of a further German advance toward the coast or the Franco-British lines of communication. By cutting these lines at important points the enemy apparently hopes to divide the two armies.

Would Aid Huns

The reduction of the Arras salient by a mighty blow could carry the Germans far toward Douens, 13 miles north of Amiens and about 13 miles west of the present fighting line. The taking of this valuable junction point would badly disrupt the allied communicating lines and an operation which led to the capture would almost inevitably carry Amiens also into enemy possession.

Against such a stroke the allies are reported to have forces heavily massed and to be confidently awaiting the result of an attack in this quarter, should one develop.

There was quiet yesterday along the
